About the seminar

A school is a miniature version of society. It is possible to build a desired society through school. “Education is the most powerful weapon we can use to change the world!” Nelson Mandela said these impactful words in his importance of education in society speech. Education is a stairway to the growth and development of humankind. Education shapes society into a better world. It is essential to understand the importance of education in today’s society. Education in any form reforms the life of an individual and the society as a whole. Building a good society is possible through schools, education and research. In the evils we see in the society now, it seems that somewhere the raw material of school or education has been left. However, there are many obstacles and challenges in building a good society, which can only be overcome through schooling, education and research. Through this seminar we will see what role schools, education and research play in building a positive society? What are the responsibilities of schools, teaching and research? Where are the barriers to schooling, education and research? And how can these challenges be overcome? There will be scope to discuss questions etc. In the presented national level seminar, teachers teaching from Kindergarten School to post graduate level, researchers, trustees etc. will try to solve their problems by participating.
